

Vico del Gargano (FG)

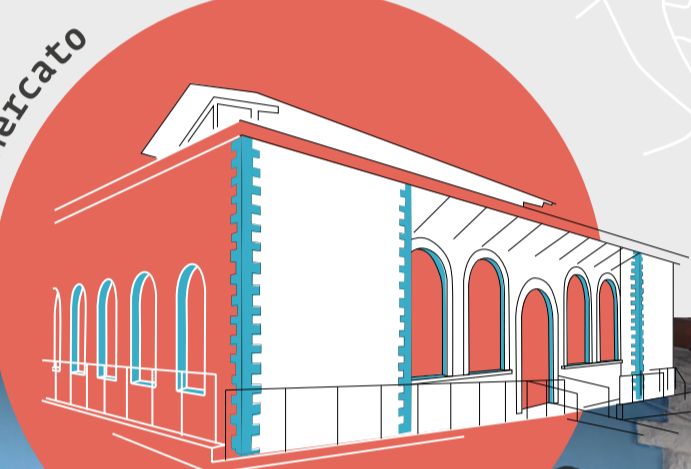

"L'ACCADEMIA DEGLI ECCITATI 2.0: "the urban art turns the LIGHTS on ecology" is a project that wants to enhance the library "Giuseppe del Viscio" through a series of installations of URBAN ART. The project aims to show and revive the deep passion and the history of the Accademia degli Eccitati Viciensi. During the 18th century the Accademia pushed the consciousness and the awareness of the local people and at this point Vico became the only Enlightenment center of Gargano which we have documented sources. The deep meaning of ECCITATI (literally thrilled but with the meaning of to wake up) had the purpose to stimulate the senses and the mind of the people to get off from obscurantism and dogmatism. This became the first action for a contemporary intervention that could be able to switch on the "lights" on topical issues related to ecology.

Villages & Food

ARTIST:
LORENZO TOMACELLI

The woman carrying the citrus juicer is a tribute to the long tradition of citrus cultivation and trade of Vico. At the beginning of the 1900s oranges from Vico were also exported to North America, and during the famines they were a fundamental source of livelihood for the community. Currently there is a rediscovery of both the gastronomic and cultural value of this tradition. Despite a rich tradition in the cultivation and trade of citrus fruits, the village has recently suffered a depopulation and the consequent abandonment of these precious fruits. The woman who carries the citrus juicer is a message for the enhancement and preservation of ancient flavors and customs.

Villages

"To repopulate villages we must believe in youth, in those who stay and those who may return: have we ever really asked anyone if they want to come back?"
